TechAdvance Inclement Weather Policy

Please note that during the winter season, classes may be cancelled due to campus closings on days which pose a hazard for students to commute to class.

Weekday and Saturday Classes:

Please check the George Mason main page for updates on campus closings. The link to the exact page is, <http://www.gmu.edu> , or call the university main line for a pre-recorded message regarding closings or late openings at 703-993-1000.

Listening to radio stations like WTOP or checking the local television stations are also advisable. If the university is closed our classes are cancelled.

Sunday Classes:

As the University does not operate on Sundays, we have a TechAdvance procedure in place to notify students of any cancellations that may occur. First and foremost, please check the TechAdvance main web page for a class status the Saturday evening before class and early morning Sunday. The link for the exact page is <http://volgenau.gmu.edu/techadvance> Warnings will be outlined in big red bold letters right below the picture. Secondly, feel free to contact the TechAdvance telephone number for a pre-recorded voice mail message detailing class status. The telephone number to call is (703) 993-1551.

In the event that there is an instructor emergency, please be sure we have all emergency contact information for you so that you can be contacted. If this information has changed, email us with this information at advance@gmu.edu.
